Laura Lowe began her career in the legal field in 2013 and joined Ahdoot Wolfson in 2022, bringing experience in assisting plaintiffs in complex litigation, including consumer, civil rights, ERISA, antitrust, and consumer class actions. Laura collaborates closely with the attorneys and our clients through every step of the legal process from start to finish.

Prior to joining Ahdoot Wolfson, Ms. Lowe worked as a paralegal at various prominent law firms providing support in several areas of law including personal injury litigation, social security disability, real estate, general civil litigation, collections, and complex class action litigation. She has worked on cases before state, federal, and appellate courts across the country.

In her free time, Laura enjoys spending time with her family and two dogs, traveling, cooking, and attending sporting events and concerts.
